
School of Music
www.anu.edu.au/music

GOULBURN SCHOOL MUSIC DAYS

Gary France and the DRUMatiX Percussion Group

Young Peoples Concerts

Goulburn South Public School

THE DRUMatiX PERCUSSION GROUP is the resident percussion ensemble at the Australian National University School of Music. Operating under their present name since the beginning of 2003, they are comprised of percussion students studying at the ANU. An ensemble dedicated to presenting the rich and diverse repertoire written exclusively for percussion. The DRUMatiX have won numerous national prizes for their presentation of percussion music across all genres including a Canberra Critics Circle Award in 2004. Under the direction of Gary France the ANU Percussion program has hosted and convened numerous international symposiums, master schools and conferences including: The Australian National Marimba School (2001), The Rhythms of Life Percussion Festival (2002), The Australian Percussion Symposium and Eisteddfod (2003), and the ANU World Rhythms Festivals (2004, 2005, 2008).

www.garyfrance.com/ypc.php

Special thanks: Arnan Wiesel, Elspeth McGregor, Stephen O'Connell, Adrian Walter